Impartiality and Confidentiality

As an accredited Certification Body, we are aware of the trust that our clients place in us in the course of the certification process in the form of access to documents, processes and business data.

The Certification Body TBBCert is therefore committed to impartiality in all its activities, to treating all clients equally and to handling all certification-relevant information and data confidentially.

All information directly and indirectly related to certification activities must be treated confidentially by employees working for the Certification Body.

This applies in particular to the disclosure of certification-relevant data, business data and personal data to third parties. Such data may only be passed on with the written consent of the certification client and the management of the Certification Body or on the basis of statutory regulations.

Complaints, appeals and notes

Complaints, appeals and notices related to certification are subject to the Certification Body's documented complaints process in the first instance. For this purpose, the applicant or certificate holder contacts the management of the Certification Body directly in written form. In the first instance, an attempt shall be made to achieve a positive clarification of the matter for both sides.

If this does not lead to an amicable solution, the matter will be submitted to the working group (Working Group "Bonding DIN 6701" or ECARV) for a decision. The decision of the working group is binding for both parties, unless a legal authority makes a different decision.

Declaration of commitment by the applicant company

By submitting the signed application form, the Certification Body is bindingly commissioned by the applicant to initiate all necessary steps required to issue an EN 17460 certificate.

Should it become apparent in the course of the application review or the further certification process that the prerequisites for certification on the part of the applicant are not fulfilled, the Certification Body is obliged to stop the certification process until the prerequisites for certification are met
